00:00:06	Eddie Procter	Hello, my name is Eddie Procter. I'm a PhD research student in landscape archaeology at the University of Exeter. And I'm going to be producing a number of Vlogs over the next few weeks which show how I'm managing my time and my work in my first year of my PhD studies. Also looking at some of the fieldwork that I am carrying out for my landscape studies. And hopefully
00:00:36		giving a picture of how someone in my position who made a career change in their forties to do a PhD and also has two children, how I manage my home life balancing that with my PhD work which will hopefully be useful for people in a similar position.
