An insight into the UK and Ireland higher education recruitment jobs.ac.uk

Great jobs for bright people
Managers, professionals and administrators at higher education institutions play a key role in shaping and delivering their vision while keeping everything running smoothly, efficiently and cost-effectively. From HR, Marketing and IT to Finance and Property they provide vital support and are the heartbeat of many universities.

However, competition from the private sector and other institutions and organisations locally, regionally and internationally is increasingly fierce. It’s becoming more challenging for higher education institutions to attract the best professional, managerial and clerical talent. With more recruitment channels and places to look for jobs, the market is also increasingly complex.

So, at jobs.ac.uk we’ve carried out an in-depth study to provide you with a greater insight into the latest recruitment trends and all kinds of information to help you recruit the best talent for your non-academic roles. Our report takes a closer look at the 16,053 professional, managerial and clerical adverts placed by UK and Irish higher education institutions on our job board during 2015.

Our extensive report covers a wide range of information to help higher education institutions, jobseekers and careers advisors alike. The information in this report will enable recruitment teams in particular to plan for the future. They can benchmark salaries. They can assess when it’s best to advertise and how long for. They can look at whether certain jobs are generally offered full time or part time or temporary or permanent. They can also see breakdowns of jobs advertised on jobs.ac.uk by location and month.

Launched in 1998 by the University of Warwick, jobs.ac.uk is the leading global jobs board for careers in academic, research, science and related professions. Used by over 1,000 universities in more than 60 countries jobs.ac.uk attracts over 1.5 million unique users per month.

Our team has vast experience of connecting jobseekers with higher education opportunities and providing institutions with invaluable insight into the global recruitment market. We hope you find this report useful and the information helps you gain a greater insight into the latest recruitment trends.

jobs.ac.uk advertised over 16,000 professional, managerial and clerical opportunities in 2015 for higher education institutions in the UK and Ireland.
EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

jobs.ac.uk advertises a diverse range of professional, managerial and clerical opportunities across the UK, Ireland and beyond. This report offers a real insight into the different role categories and provides all kinds of useful information from average salaries, peak recruitment times and locations advertised to the percentage of roles offered on a temporary, permanent, full time and part-time basis.

We’d like to thank AGCAS (Association of Graduate Careers Advisory Services) for their support in compiling this report.

TRENDS
• Jobs adverts for professional, managerial and clerical roles aren’t live for as long as academic roles, largely due to the high application rate and the quality of talent jobs.ac.uk attracts.
• Compared to academic opportunities, professional and managerial opportunities are more likely to be permanent (66%) and full time (91%).
• Clerical roles offer more flexibility with 22% offered on a part-time basis.
• The summer months are the most popular time to advertise clerical roles.

KEY FINDINGS
• 16,053 professional, managerial and clerical adverts were posted on jobs.ac.uk by higher education institutions in the UK and Ireland between January 1st 2015 to December 31st 2015.
• Professional, managerial and clerical opportunities account for 35% of all opportunities advertised on jobs.ac.uk.
• After academic opportunities, professionals and managers are the second most advertised opportunities on jobs.ac.uk.
• 39% of clerical roles were advertised in London and South East England.
• 80% of professional and managerial roles offered salaries between £25,000 - £49,999.
• 92% of clerical roles offered a salary between £15,000 - £29,999.
• The apply rate for professional and managerial roles is higher than for academic roles.
